PIONEER WAGONER.
E. G. BOLTER,
AGENT FOR OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

THIS CELEBRATED WASHING MACHINE IS now for the first time introduced to the Oregon public. It is unrivalled for its simplicity, durability and the rapidity and ease of its action. Washing the dirtiest clothes perfectly clean in from five to ten minutes, with but slight labor, and lasting, with proper care, for ten years. The wear and tear of clothing in washing by this machine is vastly less than by any other known process of washing. It does its work by a reverse motion in forcing the water through the clothes.

It having a tight cover, the steam thus assists materially in cleansing the clothes, and also avoids the inhaling of steam from hot suds.

This Machine captured the Special Premium at the California State Fair, and all that have used it pronounce it an invaluable adjunct to old housekeepers and families and washing men and washing women.

It has been extensively introduced throughout the State of California, and receives the universal commendation of all who have used it.

THE COUNTY RIGHTS, now untold, will be sold at a bargain if applied for soon.

For Reference, enquire at the Mansion House, and of John Wilson,
Southworth's Boarding House, Mrs. S. F. Johnson.

The Boat leaves Portland Wednesdays and Saturdays at 7½ A. M. Returning leaves Astoria Thursdays and Mondays at 6 o'clock A. M.

Every person purchasing a Passenger Ticket will be presented with one of 500 Prize Tickets, to be drawn on the 1ST DAY OF AUGUST, 1867, for the following Prizes:
Steamer U. S. GRANT, to be divided into 4 shares.
ONE BLOCK OF LOTS IN EAST PORTLAND, divided into 8 shares, or one lot to the share, viz: Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, Block 17, opposite the "New Columbian" Hotel, and at the terminus of the proposed Suspension Bridge;
ONE GOLD WATCH, worth $400;
160 CORDS DRY FIR WOOD, in 8 shares, to be placed on the Brooklyn Wharf.

The Steamer is 54 tons burthen, 52 horse-power engine, propeller wheel, draft of water 6 feet. She is being thoroughly refitted and refurnished as a Passenger Boat. The Boat will be delivered in perfect order, free from all incumbrance, and Warranty Deeds made for the real estate, to the person drawing the same. Tickets can be had of C. P. FERRY, in Portland, where the money will be left on deposit till the prizes are drawn and delivered.

Any person having a claim against me, and wishing a ticket, can get an order for one by calling on me on board the boat. The person drawing the gold watch can have $100 in gold coin, if preferred.

C. P. FERRY, Broker, R. J. LADD, ex-Sheriff, AL. ZEIBER, U. S. Marshal, and C. S. SILVER, Merchant, of Portland, are the Committee and Judges to direct the Drawing of Prizes. The Prizes will be drawn before the 1st of August, if all the tickets are taken before that time.

☞ The above liberal offer is made to the traveling public to enable the subscriber to pay his debts, and not with any reference to speculation, as all the property is valued at much less than its cost, (the Steamer alone having cost $11,000), and the price for carrying passengers to Astoria being much less than the usual fare.

It is feared, therefore, that the convention has failed. The election passed off quietly. The Republican majority is not large enough to carry a convention. It says the white vote is about one fourth of the whole cast. The entire vote of the city is only about 1,200, out of 22,000 registered. There were several instances offering to vote under different names than those upon their registration papers

TUESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 1, 1867.

A Logical Result.

The danger of combinations to secure the repudiation of the national debt is not by any means an imaginary one. The reactionists do not boldly avow their purpose to repudiate, for that would be impolitic but they never declare unqualifiedly against it On the theory of Government which they held in 1860–61, and indeed during the whole period of the rebellion, the debt was wrongfully and unlawfully created and therefore should never be paid. The attempt of the Government to enforce its authority was denounced as unconstitutional. Buchanan declared in his last message to Congress that the Government could not resort to force to maintain its supremacy. His Attorney General in an opinion which was endorsed by Buchanan and received as authority by his whole party, announced the same doctrine. Throughout the entire struggle the Democratic party held that the war was waged by the Government upon sovereign States without a shadow of constitutional authority, and in direct violation of the fundamental law. If this was true, it was also true that the means used for carrying on the war were unlawful, and that the debt which was incurred by the General Government in its "crusade upon sovereign States" was unconstitutionally created. This is the logical result of that doctrine. And it follows further that the debts incurred by the States in defending themselves against the aggressions and assaults of the Government of the Union are perfectly legitimate and should be paid by the party which was in the wrong. And if the Copperheads and their old allies were perfectly assured of political power in the Government, they would very quickly fall back upon their old doctrine and push it to this conclusion. They could do it with the most perfect consistency; for if the position held from 1860 to 1865 was correct, this would be the only logical, just or possible result. A Democrat who is not a repudiator has no political consistency. The man who held that the course of the Government during Lincoln's Administration was unconstitutional must have renounced this opinion or he must believe that the debt should be repudiated.

The taxation of the national securities, in defiance of repeated decisions of the Supreme Court and in violation of the pledged faith of the nation, is loudly demanded by this party as the nearest approach they dare make at this time to repudiation. The agitation of this subject, with this ultimate object in view, is sure, if continued, to lead to very grave difficulties. Repudiation come in what form it may, will not be tolerated; and the decisions of the Court on this subject must be obeyed and the promises of the Nation scrupulously kept.

The constitutional amendment, guaranteeing the national debt and declaring that the rebel debt should never be paid, is vehemently opposed by the Democratic party. How are we to interpret this action except on the idea that they wish these questions to remain open so that they can act in future in regard to them as circumstances may permit or demand?

As incidant to these matters, we append an article from the Washington Chronicle of September 2d, giving the views of General Grant on financial affairs. His position and the probability that he will be the next President of the United States give an interest to the article:

General Grant regards the financial condition of the country as second, in importance only to the great question of national reconstruction, and regrets all impediments to the latter, not only on account of their manifestly evil influence in exciting rebellious passions, but because they add largely to our national indebtedness. He is anxious for as speedy a reconstruction of the Union as is compatible with safety and the permanent security of the rights of the people. By the people he means everybody, not a mere clique as has hitherto been the case in the South.

He has great faith in the recuperative energies of the nation, and does not doubt that with an economical administration the taxation of the country might safely be reduced to the standard of necessary expenditures, inclusive of interest on the public debt, leaving the payment of the debt itself to the growth of the country, which he thinks will be very rapid upon the adjustment of our difficulties. He is therefore desirous to see reconstruction accomplished in accordance with the just wishes and upon the magnanimous policy of the reconstruction measures, that our government expenditures may be safely reduced to a peace standard.

The plunderers of the Treasury, who made up so large a proportion of Secretary Stanton's assailants, will find no less resistance from General Grant to the preposterous claims which they are trying to push through the War Department. Having fought the war all through the South, no one understands the character of the so-called war claims from that quarter better than Gen. Grant; and he knows full well that if once the door is thrown upon to them that the national treasury would be literally swamped by the untold millions—nay, thousands of millions that would be asked for. The people of the North have but a slight comprehension of the enormous aggregate of unjust claims which would be brought forward to swell the burden of the public debt and corrupt all the channels of Government, unless they get the reconstruction measures of Congress adopted.

It is of the utmost importance to the finances of the country that the War Department should be presided over by an incorruptible officer of unimpeachable integrity. Such a man is General Grant; such a man is Edwin M. Stanton. Of the latter we may say that even his bitterest foes have never dared to assail his integrity, and it is therefore very gratifying to know that we shall have him back in his place in eighty days from this time.

VERMONT.—The election in the State of Vermont was held on the 3d of September, but no mention of it was made in the telegraphic dispatches to this coast. Advices by mail state that the Republican candidate for Governor was elected by about 20,000 majority, although the vote was small. The Chicago Republican of September 6th complains of the silence of the telegraph in relation to the result, but learns from the New York papers of the 4th—the day after the election—that the majority for Page (Republican) for Governor, over Edwards (Democrat), was estimated at about 20,000. Returns for Representatives from fifty-one towns indicate the election of forty-seven Republicans to four Democrats. The Senate, it is thought, will be unanimously Republican. The vote is quite light, in consequence of the absence of anything like a contest and the stormy character of the day. The Republican majority in 1866 was a little over 22,000. When the returns are all in it will probably be found that Page's majority is 25,000. But, should it not exceed 20,000, it would show a Republican gain, considering the lightness of the vote. The Legislature of last year stood as follows: Senate—Republicans, 30; Democrats, 0. Assembly—Republicans, 224; Democrats, 13.

Ben. Hayden while speaking at Dallas the other day attempted to be very severe against Generals Sheridan and Grant. Referring to the former he said that when he was over at the Reservation the other day he saw Sheridan's lady digging camas. A citizen of Polk county who knows Ben. well informs us that it is nothing new for the "great unwashed" to visit the Reservation and interest himself in such inquiries. Referring to Grant, he made the accusation against him that he had been drunk with Judge Strong in Washington Territory. This would be a very damaging charge if it were known to be true. That it is not true we shall not question. But as the Judge probably reported it himself, and as he is known "to draw a very long bow," we may fairly doubt the literalness of the story. That one of the parties was drunk is presumably true, indeed no one will have the hardihood to question it. But before believing the entire story most people will require further proof. We know that Democrats are doing their utmost to injure Grant's reputation, and this is about the most vicious stab they have attempted to give him. But it cannot be true! Anything but that!

Operations of the City Clique.

We have no expectation of getting an intelligent or honest statement in reference to the administration of city affairs out of the Herald. As the organ of grabbers and corruptionists, and it self interested in the plunder, its policy is to mystify the whole subject and to do what it can to prevent the people from understanding it. On innumerable occasions we have exposed the fallacies and falsities of its statements in regard to city affairs, but it still continues its systematic course of misrepresentation. We stated a few days since that the city records show that during the year 1866, the sum of $437 25 was paid to the OREGONIAN for the city printing, and that the Herald in less than half the time has received $482 75 for the same service. Observe how the Herald dodges this point:

In making up this statement the OREGONIAN deducts from its own receipts all but what was paid out of the public treasury, and adds to ours the cost of advertising the delinquent tax list and notices of street assessments, none of which are paid out of the general fund, but are collected from the property taxed at precisely the same rates heretofore paid to the OREGONIAN.

In the first place, everything that the OREGONIAN received for the city printing, except for advertising the delinquent tax list, was paid out of the public treasury. In making up the statement we did not include what was paid to other paper for advertising the delinquent tax list. But we embraced what was paid to both papers for all other work,—including notices of street assessments and the publication of ordinances. Last year the cost of publishing notices of street assessments, etc., was paid out of the general fund. But the present Council has changed this rule, and now the cost of such advertising is levied on the property holders on the streets where the improvement is made. This was a sly dodge on the part of the clique to procure support for their organ without having the cost added to the general taxes. They make particular individuals pay instead of the city at large. Those who are compelled to pay large sums in addition to their street assessments for advertising which is of no possible service to them and which is ordered only for the purpose of furnishing a gratuity to the "organ," will be able to appreciate this proceeding. A class of advertising is being done this year which was never done before. Much more of it is now being done than was ever done under any previous administration. Is it better for particular individuals to pay for this needless advertising than for the whole city to pay it? The managers of the "organ" are intent only on getting the money, and they care not from what source it comes. It is true that the same rates were paid to the OREGONIAN last year which the Herald now receives, but the advertising this year is double what it was last, and far greater than was ever allowed before. But it must be remembered that the "retrenchers" are now in power.

If the majority of the present Council were in the habit of requiring or assigning a warrant in law for their acts, it might very pertinently be asked where they got their authority to charge particular property-holders with the cost of a considerable part of this advertising. The Charter only provides that notice shall be given of the proposed grade or improvement by publication in a daily paper. All the rest is superfluous. This large amount of unauthorized advertising which is charged to particular individuals, is not a necessary part of the cost of improving the streets. The Charter does not provide for it, and therefore it cannot be included in determining the probable cost of the improvement. It may therefore be questioned whether those property-holders against whom special charges are assessed to support the organ of the city clique, are under obligation to pay them. We shall not be surprised to see this matter tested and the corruptionists brought once more to grief and disappointment.

A TEST OF PRINCIPLE.—An Ohio Democratic paper, seeking the reasons for the decay and ill-repute of the Democratic party in the past, declares that it has been "cursed with thieves, with money-lovers, with timid beaters of the bush for game, with limber backed leaders who trembled at every rough wind that passed over prisons and bayonets, with policy pleaders and lovers of self."

Higby, the Union candidate for Congress in the second California district is elected by over 1,100 majority. He came out squarely in favor of negro suffrage, and emphatically denied any assertion of his friends to the contrary. THE HEBREW NEW YEAR.—The Hebrew New Year began at sundown on Sunday evening, that being, according to the biblical method of reckoning time, the beginning of the 30th day of September. In the Hebrew calendar, the year begins with the first day of the autumnal month, Tisri. The present anniversary is the beginning of the year 5,628, and the year will end on the 10th of September 1868, having only twelve months, while the year just past, had thirteen months. It is well known that the Jewish era dates from the creation, which they believe to have occurred 3,760¼ years before the Christian Era. The Hebrew year is lunar solar, consisting sometimes of twelve and sometimes of thirteen months, of twenty-nine or thirty days each. Ve-Adar is the 13th month and is introduced between Adar and Nisan, the latter being the 1st month of the ecclesiastical year. In a cycle of nineteen years, it is introduced seven times. The month Tisri contains quite a number of festival days, most of which are to be observed with strict solemnity, such as the new Year, Day of Atonement, Feast of Tabernacles, etc. It is emphatically the Holiday month of the year In the early history of the Hebrews but one day was observed, at the beginning of the year; but a custom subsequently grew up, during the Babylonian captivity to prolong the festival to the end of the second day, and that custom is followed generally by all who are known as orthodox. The day is called Rosh-Ha-Shanah It derives its solemnity from the symbolic character of the month; the ceremonies being such as call to the mind that God is the creator, the law-giver and the judge of men. The day is usually observed by closing all places of business, abstaining from the ordinary cares of life, attending places of worship, extending social greetings and kind wishes, making presents, etc. Like most other Hebrew festivals, it is made to serve the promotion of good feeling and social enjoyment, though nothing of frivolity appears in its celebration. In this city yesterday, the Hebrews all closed their places of business, and there were very few who did not attend services either at the Synagogue, where Rev. Dr. Schwab officiated, or at Turn Verein Hall, where Rev. Dr. Eckman officiated. With some of them, the celebration closed at Sunset, yesterday, while others, following the custom above alluded to, will continue it till sundown to-day

SPARTANS VS. TO NINE PIONEERS.—The first game of a match between the first nine of the Spartan Club and the second nine of the Pioneer Club was played yesterday on the grounds in East Portland. The following is the score:

HARD IRON.—Some days ago, several pigs of "hard iron" were received at one of the foundries here, from the works at Oswego. That kind of iron is not often made without very perfect treatment of the ore, and it is not all ore that will make it, even with the most careful management. This run of hard iron was the result of what is called a "cold blast." We are not certain that we understand precisely what a cold blast is, nor is it necessary that our readers should understand it. The fact that "hard iron" can be made at Oswego whenever wanted, is the material fact we have to deal with. The pigs sent here have been cast into shoes for quartz crushers, by Mr. Monnastes, who says that the shoes will be as durable as if made of steel. The iron is as hard as flint and at the same time is peculiarly tough—two qualities which, of all others, for such uses, are most desirable, in combination, and which are rather rarely found together. This iron was not put through any process for hardening, but was used at the foundry exactly as it came from the smelting furnace. The cheapness of such shoes, the cost of the work being no greater than ordinary castings, will create a demand for them in all the mining camps of the coast, and thus add materially to the value of our iron products.

NOTICE.—Yesterday, we were asked seriously why the public had not been notified in advance that the Jewish festival of the new year would be celebrated on Monday. It was said that "such a notice would have been of business importance; persons who are in the habit of doing business with merchants of the Jewish religion would have been saved the expense and annoyance of coming here to purchase goods, and finding all their houses closed," etc. We own the corn. As a local reporter, we ought to have known that A., B. and C., living respectively at Lafayette, Dallas and Salem, would be here on the Jewish New Year, unless warned in advance that they couldn't do business with firms of that persuasion. Being under obligation to know that, it was our duty to have notified everybody. We didn't do it and we therefore submit to a judgment by default. But we do not propose to be caught again such a dereliction. This is therefore to notify everybody that on Wednesday, the 9th of October, the Hebrews of this city will celebrate the "Day of Atonement;" and that if A., B and C, come here on that day and fail to transact business as on any other day, they must do it upon their own responsibility; and that we won't stand any "nonsense" on that score.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.—Our people can now judge of the character of the improvement of Second street, three blocks, between Madison and Taylor streets, being now finished. The work seems to have been done well. Yesterday, the grading of First street, above Madison, was commenced. This improvement is to extend to Harrison street. The grading of Alder street is nearly completed, but the sidewalks get along slowly. The street between Second and Third is partly graveled. The improvements on these and various other streets are rather widely scattered as to location, calling for a good deal of perambulating by the Street Commissioner; but Mac seems to stand this kind of "spreading out," remarkably well. The oil lamps petitioned for some time since, on Front street have been placed in position at the corners of Front and Jefferson, Columbia, Market and Harrison, and were lit up for the first time Saturday night. The residents in three neighborhoods are well pleased with them, as they light up the streets almost as well as do the gas lights.

QUARTZ MILL SHIPPED.—The five-stamp quartz mill, ordered a few weeks since by A. Leland, for a mining company at Warren's Diggings, was shipped for its destination on Saturday, from the shop of Mr. D. Monnastes. For a part of the distance, the mill will have to be packed on mules, and it was, therefore, cast in pieces, none of which weigh over three hundred and fifty pounds. The battery is in two pieces and fitted with lining of heavy boiler iron, which will not, of course, be fastened to the battery till it is set up in the mill. We notice that Mr. Leland arrived last evening by the steamer, and it is probable that he will soon make known the result of the working in San Francisco, of the rock which he took down. The assays hitherto made of it, showed the presence of a large per cent. of gold. After Leland took five tons of rock from the ledge upon which the mill above mentioned is to work.

A BEAUTIFUL MONUMENT.—At the marble works of Mr. William Young, near the O. S. N. Co.'s wharf, may be seen a beautiful marble monument, ordered by the Vancouver Hibernian Benevolent Society, to mark the resting place of P. Dunigan and John Bryon. It contains the usual inscriptions, detailing name, date of decease, etc., and by whom erected. On the front is a delicately cut Irish harp decorated with sprigs of shamrock. The whole monument is of California marble, and highly polished. Mr. Young has several other pieces in his shop which show the beautiful finish of which the Pacific coast marble is susceptible, and many which exhibit the skill of a cunning workman.

A LONG RUN.—A team of horses, hitched to a baker's wagon, yesterday morning, took fright in the neighborhood of Madison street, and started at a tearing rate down First street, the whole length of which they ran, without doing any other damage than to spring one of the iron axles of the wagon.

DISSOLUTION AND REORGANIZATION.—It is said that the Occidental B. B. Club and the Sherman Club at Vancouver, have both dissolved their organizations and that members of each have united to form a new club. The new club has sent a challenge to the Pioneers' first nine.

THE ST. HELENS IRON MINE.—A gentleman from St. Helens states that Mr Ralston, the President of the Bank of California, has purchased a one-twelfth interest in the iron mine at St Helens. The people down there look upon this as assuring business.

RELIGIOUS.—The Union Meeting for Prayer and Conference on Tuesday evening, Oct. 1st, will be held in the M. E. Church, instead of the Congregational Church. Also, the Noonday Meetings will be held in the Presbyterian Church during the month of October.

WILLAMETTE FREIGHT.—Arrived per steamer Senator, from Oregon City, yesterday, 300 qr sks flour, 53 bbl bbls lard and butter, 7 boxes eggs, 12 sks dried fruit, 203 bags wheat, 160 sks oats, 9 boxes, 3 sks bacon, 4 bales woolen goods, and 2 tons scrap iron

EASTERN NEWSPAPERS.—Mr. Chas Barrett, upon the arrival, last evening, of the Oriflamme, furnished us with copies of Eastern newspapers, magazines and pictorials His supplies are of the latest dates. Call and see Mr. Barrett.

TAKEN BACK.—The man Smith whose arrest here on suspicion of the murder of Devine, above Umatilla, was mentioned a day or two since, was taken back by Sheriff Maddock yesterday.

THE BARK MERRITT.—The bark Sam Merritt was reported off the bar at the mouth of the Columbia when the Oriflamme left Astoria Saturday morning.

THE LADIES' RELIEF SOCIETY will meet in the Basement of the Presbyterian Church to-day (Tuesday) at 2½ o'clock P. M.

LEOPOLD BARMAN, of Barman Bros., is still attending the great Auction Sales of Clothing at San Francisco. Look out for breakers on steamer due on Tuesday next CATARRH.—The origin of Catarrh is in most cases A neglected cold which can be relieved by the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches," by soothing the irritated and inflamed membrane extending from the nose to the throat. For Coughs and Throat Diseases the Troches are of great service.

The Halo Round the Moon.

When my first kiss on those pure lips
I fondly pressed, and motionless
We stood with wreathed finger tips
And eyes that swam with love's excess,
You said you feared the omen dark
That threatened us with storm full soon,
And half in jest you made me mark
The halo round the moon

"Then dare it with me, love!" I said,
"And meet it smiling there as now.
Shall anyone's shadow bow the head
That sorr- ws spell should never know?
What follows the darkest but the day?
What dwells behind each night but noon,
Whose laughing sun shall chase away
The hair round the moon?"

And now that time has only shown
How brief life's storms when dauntless met,
And every sun year that's flown
Has knit our hearts but closer yet,
How memory holds that night endeared,
We asked of fate no further boon,
But dared the angury nor feared
The hair round the moon

NASBY.

NASBY GOES ON TO NEW ORLEANS TO ACQUAINT THE PRESIDENT'S FRIENDS WITH THE CONTEMPLATED CHANGE.

POST OFFIS, CONFEDRIT X ROADS,
(which is in the Stait uv Kentucky),
August 24, 1867.

I wuz a settin all so pleasant in the Post Offis last nite, a musin onto the instability uv human affairs, when I received the followin despatch per boy on a mule from the stashun

"WASHINGTON, Aug. 20, 1867.

"To P. V. Nasby, etc Hev determined to be President or nothin. Shel remove Stanton, and immejitely thereafter Sheridan, and ultimatoly the balloose uv em. Go on to Noo Orleans and make this known to our friends. Draw on the general fund for expenses. A. J."

Wat a thrill run thro me as I red this! I never felt so good but cust before in my life. I was in an interior town in Massachusetts four days, wher the mere stimulatin bevrage wuz root beer. The occashun when I felt better than I did on the recest uv that despatch, wuz the identikle minit I struck Noo York and stood afore a bar. Oh, what a plessin, soothin, magnetic thrill run thro my vains ex the golden likquid gurgled down my asofagus. Jest so I thrilled at reedin that despatch. My thot-contracted brow smoothed agin, the rinkles ur care left my face, and I wuz a boy once more!

I left immejitly, and after a pleasant journey reashed Noo Orleans.

I had no trouble in finding them to whom I was accredited. If there's a divinity which doth hedge a king, ther must be suthin also in the face uv a troo Domekrat which betrays him. I was followed to my hotel by a crowd uv the first men uv the city, and when they saw my name on the register the wone was terrifio. They knowd me! they knowd my comin wuznt for nothin, and afore I had come to say one I wuz hurried to the "Lost Cos" club rooms and made an onorary member for life, includin the freedom uv the bar, which was a privilge I prized.

"What noose from Washington?" shouted they all with one akord.

"Calm yoorselves!" said I, impressively, "and restrane your emoshens. Four days ago I recoived this," and I red 'em the dispatch. Never shel I witnis another sich a scoen. Old men danced like yooth, while young men wept like wimmin.

"Excoose us, sir," said one; "this weoplin is ommanly, but oh! did you know wat I hev suffered! Since last Joon a year I hevn't killed a nigger nor a preacher, and hev only mooked too uv em down, and for them too I wuz imprisoned three months each. But, thank God, I'm free again—I'm free!" and he fell onto my neck and askt me to take a drink with him, wich fearin the effox uv irritashun on him, in his present eggsitable stait my mind, I did.

I wuz askt of I had ever bin in Noo Orleons afore, and on sayin that I hedn't, my friend accompanied me to the many objeks uv interest in the city.

"Here," sed he, "is the buildins in wich Beast Butler received the surrender uv the city, and where he signed the order for the hangin uv Mumford. Subsekently, in this same room, the tother beast, Sheridan, took his orders from Mayor Monzo and Aboli. Ha! ha! 'twas rotribushen," and he smiled grimly several minits. "Here is the hall where Dostle and his abolishen hords gathered over a year ago, and from which Dostle was carried a corps. At that anglo in the bildin I, with this good rite hand, slew three niggers and a Burow preacher. Rite here where we are standin, a cart containin the killed came along. I wuz eggsited and infuriated at their obstinacy in holdin the Convenshon. In my revolver there was one load—in the cart, under the corpses, there was a nigger graasin. I mounted the cart and turned over the corpses—the wounded nigger had on a bloo cote—inflamed with rage at the site, pulled trigger and he groaned no more."

"Glorious sperit!" sed I in eggstacy, ringin his hand.

"Just in front uv where we stand thirty niggers was killed, and one or two uv them Burow preachers. It don't become me to sly how many I killed, but I wan't idle. In three weeks thereafter I recseved my pardon from the President, and am now, thank God, a citizen."

By this time we had reached the Club agin, and for hours I listened to tales uv oppreshun on the part uv the military satraps which made my blud run cold. A citizen hed shot a nigger—and forthwith he wus tore from the burrum uv his family and inkarserated in the commun prison! Another's wife had throwd a bucket of bilin water over a wench in the street, uv wich the perverse creacher died, and she, too, was arrested. Policemen hed bin discharged for refoosin to arrest men whose spirits exoodent brook nigger ekulity, and others hed bin dismissed for hurrahin for Jeff. Davis and pullin down the Federal flags. There hed bin no liberty uv speech nor ackshon. The Club room had bin invaded, and pistols and shotguns had bin taken out by these desputs, wich wus a grindin the citizens into the dust. But the most oppressive case was that uv one uv our first citizens, who hed a girl in his family who wood persist in attendin skools after he had positively forbid her doin so. He tied her up, and in the most patriarchal manner gave her one hundred and fourteen lashes. She was obstinit and died. He gave her Orischen burriel, but nevertheless he was pulled up and fined and imprisoned. Fined and imprisoned for wallopin a nigger?

The blanie commenced. Lists were bein made out, the purport uv wich I comprehended. "Enter up," sed one, pullin a revolver, "the nest nv niggers on the alley just around the corner from my house. They hev thar a chapel in wich they her preachin Sundays and skools doorin the week. Aside from the annoyance it is to my family, it's really dangerous. Two hundred nigger children attend it, besides the adult nigger classes."

"Enter up," sed another, cleanin out a shot gun, "the grocer on the same street. He is from Iowa, and teaches a Sunday skool class in that same chapel. Sich incendiaries we kin never tolerate." "There's a nigger church two squares from me wich must be abated," sed another, "and, by the way, a agent of the missionary society and two teachers from Connecticut boards next door. Put em down." "In my part of the city," sed another, "there's four nigger draymen wich have been impudent enuff to scrape together enuff to buy ground and build em houses. Don't forget to put em down—don't They are niggers and hev houses. I," he added bitterly, "I am a white man and hev none. Put em down. When Sheridan goes! ha! ha! ha!"

And so on. The sekotary entered the names of fast as they wuz furnisht him, until the name uv every man suspected uv Yankee perclivities was registered. The niggers wuz not put down, 'cept them wv sich prominence as they desired to make shoor wv; it is considered entirely safe to kill a nigger anywhere. Some wv em desired to make exceptshun in favor of certin niggers who good be dependid upon as troo. One uv them kept a keno and tother a faro bank. But they wuz rooled out. The niggers, it wus decided, wasn't to be trusted. Their impudence, in presuming to keep faro banks, was friteful.

The next day, brite and early, I wuz at the Club, when I received another dispatch. The members flockt around me. "Is it done?" shrcekt they. "Is Stanton out?"

"He is," sed I, slowly, "he is, but—"

"But wat? Oh, relieve our suspense!"

"But Grant is in!" returned I, droppin the message and sinkin on a sofa in a brown study. But they wux delited.

"It's better than we hoped," sed they; "Grant hes come over at last. Bless the Lord! His name will give the administrashon strength." They cheered like loonatics.

Finally, one mornin I got a despatch that Sheridan would be released that day, and the enthusiasm biled up agin—this time I shared in it, for I felt that wus truly suthin. It wus impossible to restrane the gentle lambs uv the club any longer. Es a sort uv lunch, preceding the feast that wus to come, they sallied out and made it lively for sich niggers as they could get safely near to. At noon, the next dispatch came to me. The entire membership uv the club wuz gathered around, impashent to hear me sound the glad tidins over Egypt's dark sea. I broke the seal.

"Sheridan is removed to-day!—"

"Ror! Ror! Ror!" cheered the club.

"And Thomas is appointed in his place!"

So read the dispatch. Ther wus nary a cheer followed it. The most death like silence pervaded the rooms. One by one the members skulked out to settle with the niggers whose heads they had bastid in the mornin, and to ashoor em it wux all a joke. The lists wux destroyed and the revolvers and shot guns wux all peekod away. All a reaction held immejitly the followin resoloushons wuz passed:

Resolved, That it is possible for men whose faith is bigger nor a grain of mustard seed, to hev confidence in President Johnson, but ours is gin out.

Resolved, That we asked him for bread and he give us a stone;—we asked him for an egg and he give us a scorpion.

Resolved, That a committee uv two be appointed to toss up for the difference between Sheridan and Thomas, and another to figger up wherein we are better off under Grant than we wuz under Stanton.

Resolved, That the President, in awakin hopes only to dash em to the ground, is guilty of a cruel disregard uv our feelins.

Resolved, That if he is ever going to do anything for us, why don't he do it, and—"

At this point another dispatch came. I wux too much affected to read it, and I pnest it to the President. "Hell!" sand he, "Gentle sire, hunt yer holes. Thomas is sick and won't come, and Sheridan is goin to stay after all."

Concludin that my offishel duties prevented me from makin a longer stay in Noo Orleans, I hastened North agin with all speed. Jest ez I wuz leavin the city, I got another dispatch statin that Hancock wuz appointed to Sheridan's place. I didn't consider the noove sufficiently chocrin to indooce me to go back agin. I feel that men uv my opinions is safer in Kentucky than anywhere else. Kentucky didn't secede, and therefore within her borders secesshonists are safe. Thank the Lord for Kentucky.

They don't do Johnson justice down there tho. He wood help them if he cood, but he can't. Congris tied his hands. He kin appoint this man or that man, but both this man or that man are bound to execout the law. Wat kin the President do?

PETROLEUM V. NASBY, P. M.
(Wich is Postmaster).

Peril of the Vice Presidency.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette writes as follows:

It is a singular fact in our history that while from 1789 to 1841—fifty-two years—we lost no President while in office, though five of them during that time served two terms each; yet in the next twenty-four years ending in April, 1865, we lost three Presidents—Harrison, Taylor and Lincoln—and within the same period it is well known an attempt was made to poison a fourth, James Buchanan. These things have caused thinking men to fear that General Harrison and General Taylor were each poisoned, as was attempted, but unsuccessful, with Buchanan. This suspicion was strengthened with many when Lincoln was assassinated soon after his second election.

To one who has not examined this subject in all its bearings and coincidences, it may appear strange that Lincoln was not assassinated during his first term; but if he will recollect that during that term Hamlin, a most incorruptible Union man, was Vice President and would have succeeded Lincoln, he will see that nothing would have been gained by Lincoln's assassination then. To take the lives of both would not only have exposed the plot, but even then Foster, President of the Senate, would still have carried on the policy of Lincoln, and nothing would have been gained by removing Lincoln during his first term.

Now, let it be remembered, that besides the singular fact that from 1789 to 1841 we lost no President, and yet, from 1841 to 1865, less than half that time, we lost three by death and the life of another was attempted to be taken, and then reflect that each instance of the succession of Vice President, though elected on the same ticket with the deceased President, the whole policy of the Government in relation to the great issues of the day was at once changed, and we cannot rationally resist the conclusion that the Vice Presidency had much to do in presenting the inducements and offering the fit occasion for the sudden removal of the President. Such a coincidence that in every instance the policy of the Government was immediately changed to suit the political party opposed to the deceased President, and also the Vice President himself, must cause every reflecting mind to fear that General Harrison and General Taylor, as well as Lincoln, were foully dealt with. Had Buchanan been poisoned, it is easy to see what John C. Breckinridge would have done. The whole Government would have been surrendered to the South, and all resistance to secession and the Confederacy would have been prevented. Such was no doubt the plot at that particular time. But Buchanan's preference for old Bourbon saved him and saved the Government from this well-concerted coup d'etat.

Though I may be right in my conjectures as to the fatality which has attended on Presidents in the last twenty-five years, yet I would not be understood as insinuating that in all—perhaps in none of these cases—the Vice Presidents had any direct hand in the plot to take the life of the President. But the guilty actors at least understood that a change in the Executive would bring about a change of policy to suit them, and on this assurance they acted, and have never been disappointed.

Would it not be well, then, to remove this temptation, and place the Executive in a position that no one could calculate an advantage from his removal. The Vice President is, at any rate, a useless appendage to the Government, and has very many times, in our history, given us much trouble, even to say nothing about the death, poisoning or assassination of four Presidents since 1841.

☞ We have but little confidence in the trumpet tongued statements of the proprietors of advertised medicines generally, but we are forced to concur in the opinion, uniformly expressed by all who have used PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER, that it is a very valuable article, and one that it would be well for every household to have at hand, in case of bruises, scalds, burns, diarrhœa, dysentery, cholera, fever and ague, and the host of diseases, external and internal, which it is adapted to cure or alleviate. No article of medicine ever attained to such unbounded popularity and extensive diffusion. It has penetrated to every part, even the most remote, of the known world, bearing with it its healing influences more potent than those of the spices of "Araby the blest." We are informed by our principal druggists, that they sell more of this article for exportation than any or all others; and that the demand is constantly increasing.—Salem Observer.
